SECURINESS Medi Scanner prevents expensive re-usable surgical instruments and tools from being inadvertently or carelessly discarded in surgical suite waste.

SECURINESS Medi Scanner

The Mediscan loss Prevention Detector has been developed to lower hospital operating costs. It prevents surgical instruments, tools, sensors and monitoring equipment discarded during surgical suite cleaning from being lost. Expensive re-usable stainless steel implements, often costing hundreds of dollars, are regularly discarded during cleaning. At many hospitals, the replacement costs alone exceed tens-of-thousands of dollars per year. It provides a fast, inexpensive method of scanning medical waste bags and is an excellent deterrent against employees who negligently discard equipment. Mediscan is also used to scan laundry for concealed metal objects and to prevent it from getting damaged or destroyed.
